AURELIAN VALE NIGHTS

Commercials / Luxury / 60 sec
Cast 1 Male x1

The Aurelian Vale is a hand built luxury sedan. A single announcer carries the whole spot over slow night footage of a coastal road. The actor plays restraint. Low, unhurried, every word placed, with the tagline landing like a closed door.

CHARACTERS

ANNOUNCER - 40s to 60s, male, a deep and unhurried voice, speaks like someone who never has to repeat himself

SETTING

A dark coastal road at night with a sleek sedan gliding under a low moon.

Night. An empty coastal road. Headlights sweep across wet stone.

A dark sedan glides into frame, almost silent.

ANNOUNCER

(low, unhurried, every word placed)

There is a kind of quiet you cannot buy.

(beat)

The quiet after the city lets go of you. The quiet of a road nobody else knows about.

Interior. A hand rests on the wheel. Soft light from the dash.

We spent seven years chasing it.

(a slight lift)

Every seam stitched by hand. Every panel shaped by people who still argue about a millimeter.

Exterior. The car takes a long curve. The ocean flashes below.

The engine does not roar. It does not need to.

(beat, almost a smile)
It hums. Like it knows something you don't.

Close on the badge. Then the taillights fading into the dark.

(settling)
The Aurelian Vale.

(the button, final)
Arrive quieter.
